For colleges, universities and departments

Mrinal's Research Methodology Studio for Social Sciences is a digital workshop for research: the synopsis, fieldwork tools and ethics, data analysis and hypothesis testing with SPSS-style tables, tools for building tests and checking agreement between coders, writing chapters, citations (APA, Harvard, Chicago, MLA), Word files in the formats of KKHSOU and other universities of Assam, a theory library of 230 theories and checks. It suits research methodology courses and PhD course work, MA dissertations in Sociology, Political Science, Education, Psychology, Anthropology, Women's Studies and Rural Development, MSW dissertations and PhD scholars.

Why it suits institutions

- It works without the internet, on phones and computers; students need no SPSS licence to learn and run the common tests.
- Students' work and data stay on their own devices; nothing goes to a server.
- The studio never writes for students; it stresses research integrity, the UGC similarity rules and the declaration on the use of AI tools.
- A department can set its own format and give the format file to all its students.
